

Purash Kanpur Haridas Nandi Mahavidyalaya

CREATIVE WRITING CLUB

Objective:

The Creative Writing Club of Purash Kanpur Haridas Nandi Mahavidyalaya aims to ignite and nurture a passion for creative expression among students by providing a supportive platform for exploring diverse forms of writing, including poetry, fiction, essays, and scripts. The club seeks to enhance students' imagination, critical thinking, and linguistic skills while promoting a culture of storytelling and literary appreciation in multiple languages. By encouraging originality and offering opportunities for mentorship, collaboration, and publication, the club aspires to empower students to articulate their ideas confidently and creatively, fostering personal growth, academic excellence, and a vibrant literary community on campus.

The Creative Writing Club of Purash Kanpur Haridas Nandi Mahavidyalaya aims to:

1. Foster creative expression and literary talent among students.
2. Provide a platform for students to explore various forms of creative writing, such as poetry, fiction, essays, and scripts.
3. Cultivate a love for literature and storytelling in different languages.
4. Enhance critical thinking, imagination, and articulation skills.
5. Encourage the publication of student work in college magazines, online platforms, and other mediums.

Activity Plan:

To achieve its objectives, the club will implement the following activities:

1. Workshops and Seminars:
 - Conduct creative writing workshops by inviting guest speakers, authors, and literary professionals.
 - Organize skill-building sessions on topics such as character development, narrative techniques, and editing.
2. Writing Challenges and Competitions:
 - Host monthly or quarterly writing contests on diverse themes.
 - Encourage participation in regional, national, and international writing competitions.
3. Publication Initiatives:

- Publish an annual anthology or magazine showcasing student work.
- Maintain an online blog or platform for regular submissions and exposure.

4. Collaborations and Networking:

- Collaborate with other literary clubs, cultural societies, or academic departments.
- Organize inter-college creative writing competitions.

5. Literary Events:

- Host open mic sessions, poetry readings, or storytelling nights.
- Celebrate literary festivals or days, such as World Poetry Day, by arranging themed activities.

6. Mentorship and Feedback:

- Offer peer reviews and mentorship for students seeking to improve their writing.
- Facilitate interaction between experienced writers and budding authors.

Expected Outcome:

1. Enhanced Creative Skills:

Students will develop refined creative writing and storytelling skills.

2. Increased Confidence:

Students will feel empowered to express themselves through words and share their work publicly.

3. Publication Opportunities:

Students' works will be featured in college magazines, blogs, and other platforms, providing them visibility.

4. Academic and Career Development:

Writing skills acquired through the club will enhance students' academic performance and open career opportunities in journalism, content creation, publishing, and other fields.

5. Stronger Literary Culture:

The club will foster a vibrant literary culture on campus, encouraging a collaborative and inspiring environment.

6. Recognition of Talent:

Talented students will receive acknowledgment through contests, awards, and public appreciation.

Approval and Review:

The policy will be reviewed annually by the faculty-in-charge and club members to ensure alignment with the objectives and adapt to new opportunities for growth.
